Curry Plant Mini

A smaller version of the standard Curryplant, Miniature Curryplant is an aromatic herb with a compact bushy growth habit, reaching only 30cm/12" high. In zones where the plant is perennial, it makes an excellent choice for hedging in knot gardens, while its pleasant curry smell makes it a companionable houseplant in colder areas. It prefers a dry, sunny location and dislikes wet conditions. Small button-like yellow flowers will appear in summer, and can be used in potpourris to brighten the mix. The flowers inspired the name Heliochrysum, from the Greek words helios, the sun, and chrysos, golden. Trim it back after flowering to maintain its shape. A silvery plant with irresistible charm, the Miniature Curryplant is a delightful addition to formal knot gardens or your indoor herb collection. Perennial (hardy in zones 11+)
